Quantificient Challenge

	YES	NO
Are your employees always looking for ways to improve processes, which in turn increases customer satisfaction and profitability?	☐	☐
Do you feel that one of the most important jobs of leadership is to remove barriers to pave the way for continuous improvement?	☐	☐
Do you have a standard model that managers and staff understand and embrace for achieving improvements?	☐	☐
Do you teach continuous improvement in house so you don't rely on a consultant for every project?	☐	☐
Do your employees measure and track results and advertise successes on a weekly/ monthly basis?	☐	☐
Can employees identify issues and implement solutions that really work?	☐	☐
